

Making Impressions

You make “impressions” on people when you interact with them. An impression is what other people are thinking about you.

When you are around other people,

Think about others, and guess what they are thinking about you.

This is called the impression you are making.

